2020 INTERNET DATA PRIVACY COLLOQUIUM
THE INTERNET, PRIVACY, AND THE FUTURE OF DATA

Thursday, February 20th, 2020, 10:00am – 4:30pm
STEWART R. MOTT FOUNDATION
122 MARYLAND AVE., N.E. WASHINGTON, D.C.
(RECEPTION FOLLOWING CONFERENCE)

DATA PRIVACY DAY
CHAMPION

You are invited to join with Dialogue on Diversity, its friends, the city's policy aficionados, and a lineup of expert speakers, for a conversation on the effects of the growing force of hyper-powered information — on your economic viability, your health, and your privacy. A prospect that it at once exhilarating and terrifying. The world's economies are producers of cars and buildings, music and amusements, but also the sensors that are closer to you than you yourself — opening the door for the smiling principal or a prospective employer who knows the flaws in your soul. The Colloquium title drives home the challenges: The Internet, Privacy, and the Future of Data

What will you learn? What are the key questions?

➢ What is privacy in the age of technology? Is there one definition or many? Is it a law or a right or a technique?
➢ How are the issues of personal data privacy impacted by the ongoing immigration debate and policy implementation? How do we protect the privacy rights of migrants and separated minors?
➢ How has the Internet of Things and Artificial Intelligence changed what we think of as privacy? What are the shields of privacy in the all-seeing tech environment?
➢ What is STEM/STEAM and how is it impacted by the IT Revolution?
➢ How safe is your medical data?
➢ What is the debate over Section 230 and will the IT Revolution lead to Government censorship?
